

Solve Your Paperwork Problems with OnTask

Simplify your processes with a no-code, no nonsense workflow automation solution for forms, documents, and signatures that puts time and value back in your day.

What's Your Red Folder?

Everybody has at least one. Those pesky but vital manual tasks that take up too much time and keep you from focusing on ways to take your organization to the next level. All that paperwork may not go in an actual red folder, but if you're doing all those tedious processes by hand, you might as well be chasing after one all day long.

But ditching outdated, manual ways of doing things is easier said than done, especially when most workflow automation solutions expect you to radically rethink the way you do things just to conform to their rigid requirements. What you really need is an intuitive, customizable solution that converts your existing paperwork processes into smooth digital experiences.

How We Help

With OnTask, you can build customized workflows that automate your vital business practices with forms, documents, and signature capabilities. Using flexible conditional logic, you control how data is collected, where it flows, and who receives it to simplify even your most complex business processes. Start solving problems right away so you can focus on what really matters.
