

Top 5 Reasons to Automate University Paperwork

Faculty and staff alike can benefit in big ways from campus-wide automation. Pretty much any paper process can go digital, but we've listed some of the most impactful.

Studies show that 60% of university processes can be automated.

Source: Ernest & Young, Global Limited

1

Time Saved

On average, workflow automation saves university employees up to 13 hours per week.

Source: McKinsey

2 Money Savings & Earnings

Boost university ROI by saving money in multiple areas using automation.

Some ways automation saves money:

- Reduced printing costs
- Faster payments from vendors
- Greater employee efficiency

3

Better Employee Performance

More than 40% of employees spend ¼ of their time handling manual & repetitive tasks.

Common university processes that can be automated include:

- ✓ Class registrations
- ✓ Course evaluations
- ✓ Vendor contracts & payments
- ✓ Study abroad paperwork
- ✓ Transcript requests

4

Enhanced Student Education

Better performance for faculty translates to better education for their students.

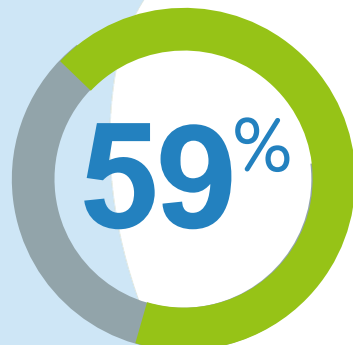

University-wide automation helps students with:

- Better interactions with professors
- More detailed feedback on courses
- Easier access to resources

5

Attracting the Right Talent

Automation is proven to help attract and retain the right talent for universities.

In the rising workforce of millennials, 59% said employers providing the right technology was important when considering a job.

Source: PWC